EXPLANATORY NOTES

INTRODUCTION

In 1979, at the request of the Australian Statistics Advisory Council (ASAC), the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) undertook an initial survey to identify the statistical data collections conducted by other Commonwealth Government departments and authorities.

In view of the potential value to users of statistics of a comprehensive listing of Commonwealth statistical data collections, ASAC agreed that the survey be undertaken on an annual basis.

This catalogue contains information obtained from a further survey of statistical data collections conducted by Commonwealth Government departments and authorities during 1979-80. Details of the statistical data collections conducted by the ABS itself are also included. It should be noted that statistical compilations such as the Australian National Accounts, Population Projections, and Input-Output Tables, which are derived from information obtained from ABS statistical data collections already listed in the catalogue, have not been included. Users requiring a comprehensive listing of ABS statistical publications should consult the ABS 'Catalogue of Publications'. (See page (vi) for details.)

SCOPE AND COVERAGE

The survey included all Commonwealth Government departments and authorities and all joint Commonwealth-State authorities. Each of these organisations was requested to complete a form showing details of those statistical data collections undertaken wholly or in part during the twelve months to 30 June 1980, either by themselves or by outside consultants or private organisations acting on their behalf. Collections were to be included if they were:

- undertaken primarily for statistical purposes;
- not undertaken primarily for statistical purposes but yielded statistics; or
- generated as by-products of administrative processes.

It is sometimes difficult to distinguish statistical data collections from other types of collection. For the purpose of this catalogue the respondents' judgment on this point has generally been accepted. However, certain reported data collections which were considered to be for administrative purposes only have been excluded from the catalogue.

ARRANGEMENT OF CATALOGUE

The catalogue contains details of all relevant collections conducted during the reference period, by the ABS and other Commonwealth Government departments and authorities, for which information is available in either published or unpublished form.

Collections have been grouped in accordance with the standard ABS program/project framework. Under each project heading ABS collections appear first, followed by collections undertaken by other Commonwealth Government departments and authorities.

For each separate collection the following information is presented:

- . Title or description of collection;
- . Data source(s);
- . Collection method(s);
- . Collection frequency;
- . Collecting department or authority;
- . Name/title and telephone number of contact for further information.
